

Moses Brown School

March 2010

Since 1995 I have served as the Director of Finance and Management at Moses Brown School. Throughout this time the school has relied on Site Tech Corporation to perform most of our civil engineering needs. The relationship started in 1996 with our Lower School Playground, and some subsequent projects include the synthetic outdoor running track (1998), the softball field and retaining wall (2000), campus drainage (2002), additional parking (2004), utility work (2008), and other smaller projects. Site Tech is also the preferred school sub-contractor when the school utilizes a General Contractor, as was the case with our $8 million Middle School restoration (2007-2008).

All throughout the relationship with the school, Site Tech has been a reliable contractor who has performed excellent work and has always completed the projects on schedule and within budget. With 785 students, student safety and project timely delivery are paramount. Site Tech always delivered on those two most important schoolhouse concerns.

In addition to the fine work, the Site Tech staff was a joy to have on campus. Mike Donatelli has managed most of the Moses Brown work, and he has always been a gentleman and his staff acts the same way. Mike Cesaro has been quick to respond to any concerns the school has had, and any concerns have always been resolved fairly.

In summary, I can easily recommend Site Tech for projects, and Moses Brown plans on continuing to utilize them in the future.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads 'James M. Nagle'. The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first letters of the first and last names being capitalized and prominent.
